

Wednesday, November 15
2:30 to 6:00 p.m.

GIS and VGI/OpenData

Geographic Information Centre (GIC)
McGill
Burnside Hall, 5th floor

Stop by and learn about Geographic Information and Geospatial Data Science!

Keynote: Prof. Matt W. Wilson
'But do you actually do GIS?'
1 p.m., BH511

- 1:00 p.m. Prof. Matt W. Wilson, U of Kentucky: But do you actually do GIS?
- 2:00 p.m. Frederic Blouin-Michaud, ESRI: Field note taking with ESRI Survey123
Participants will have the opportunity to collect field notes on campus.
- 2:30 p.m. Rachel Bloom, McGill grad students: Working with OpenData at OpenNorth
- 3:00 p.m. Jean le Moullec, Statistics Canada: Statistics Canada and the "Building Canada 2020 Initiative"
- 3:30 p.m. Léo Frachet, Transit App: VGI and OpenData use at Transit
- 4:00 p.m. Meet GIS experts
Visitors have the opportunity to talk to presenters and reps from GIS companies
- 4:30 p.m. Inauguration of the Open Mapping Group (OMG) McGill
- 5:00 p.m. Open Wine & Cheese reception
- around 5:45 pm. Poster awards and presentation of field note taking results (Survey123)

Presentations will take place in Burnside Hall, classroom 511.

During the day there will be a poster presentation of student posters in the open space area of the GIC along with free coffee and cookies and GeoGames provided by MUGS.

Hand in your GIS poster at gicsupport@mcgill.ca by Nov, 10 and have the chance to win a price!

